Early Modern to Contemporary

FUNDAMENTAL ENERGY New Works by Jonathan Sobol

Artist's Opening Reception: 5 - 7 pm | Saturday, September 9

Exhibition Dates: September 9 - October 21, 2023

203 Fine Art is pleased to present a solo exhibition by long-time Taos artist Jonathan Sobol. The works in this show feature newer creations, most of which have never been exhibited, including gestural sculptures that bring this artist's abstracted forms to life.

A professional artist of Taos since 1984, Fundamental Energy is not a retrospective but an inclusive exhibition juxtaposing Sobol's early modernist works with his contemporary style. A previous curator of the Stables Gallery in 1989, Sobol was once creating alongside the Taos Moderns, who were all masterfully interpreting objects and landforms. However, as an artist who grows as frequently as the land he pulls inspiration from, Sobol is taking to re-inventing his own fundamentals of process. These newer paintings go beyond mere interpretation of landscapes and instead channel the energetic vibrations of the macrocosm, raising his artwork to new levels.

Utilizing organic shapes that the land visually provides, Sobol seems to relate their microscopic anatomies to the bigger picture. Cell shapes and colorful cardiograms radiate like atoms across the canvas, all hoping to lead the viewers to their own interpretations of the life around them. Many of these works stand complete without title, intentionally, so there are no preconceived notions of an artist's intent. Sobol keeps only one goal when it comes to his art; to get his audience to feel.

Please join us for the artist's opening reception on Saturday, September 9, from 5 - 7 PM.
These artworks will be on exhibition until October 21, 2023.
